Selling as "points" and "pennies," rewards programs are popping up at stores from Pottery Barn to the Gap, offering shoppers big discounts on purchases. Last week, Sears Holdings Corp. became the first retailer to announce it will introduce a program in January. The retailer's program will be free to customers who sign up and requires a $25 monthly fee. That means you can use more data points for lines, points, dimensions, and text. You can see this change for yourself by using the "View PDF Paper" command on the View PDF Paper menu. (video: 0:54 min.) A new workspace: A new workspace is the workspace that opens when you launch your application.
