Overview

As the name suggests, Tarnished is an action RPG. You start in a small village, in which you can talk to the NPCs, and they will tell you all about the world. You will gain experience, level up, and learn new skills. While you can only choose one class, you can mix them together, therefore you can still advance. You can equip items and, obviously, they affect your class. The story is the same as any story, you're a hero trying to get to the end. The towns are fully developed, especially the shops.

Each shop has a location, but once you reach an area the area changes according to the type of item that you buy from that shop.

However, the quest system is unique to Tarnished. You don't gain experience points, you gain Faith Points. The "faith" that you can have are based on the class that you choose. Therefore, you won't gain much from a "spell caster" class, for example, unless you gain more "faith" from battle. In this video, we are going to cover the following topics: 11. Tutorial 12. The world 13. Combat 14. Classes the clock to solve the problems that caused these complaints, and we believe we have a solution that will not only address those complaints, but will make Infinite Duel more fair than ever before for our customers. This solution will also help provide for a better Magic Online experience for all players, regardless of how they have played on Magic Online before. We expect this solution to be implemented at 11:59 p.m. (PT) on Tuesday, January 31, 2013. What This Will Entail This solution will mean that Infinite Duel draft queue will be replaced with Open Duel draft queue. This means that, starting immediately, Magic Online will no longer have an Infinite-Draft-like queue. It will instead be a queue that has a chance of attracting card-lovers, money-makers, and fun players who want to play on Magic Online's newest setting, the Duel Kingdom. This queue will be implemented as a dual-faction queue (KND + Infinite). If you are a current owner of Infinite Queue booster
