Every year, county and city officials hold another conference to discuss whether or not they should provide local television airing and with whom. And while the City of Harlingen doesn't provide local media, they will be switching their station from Telemundo to a local station. The City of Harlingen sent out a press release this week. (HARLINGEN, TX - APRIL 18, 2009)... (By Tricia Benavides) "I think this station is going to help us get a lot of viewers. We already have Telemundo Houston and other international stations, so viewers are exposed to international viewers." "And when we do it, the people like it. They enjoy the content. We always get good ratings, I mean, we're second place right now." "I'm going to say, I'm going to stay with it." This station is already available, it's like you're switching to a different station, but the new channel will air programming 24-7. Other possibilities could include using the station to air financial programming. (HARLINGEN, TX - APRIL 18, 2009)... (By Tricia Benavides) "I think it's a good idea, it provides people access to a different station that they can watch for around the clock." The station will be channel twelve on local cable and channel nineteen on local satellite. (HARLINGEN, TX - APRIL 18, 2009)... (By Tricia Benavides) "It's a great thing. It's really cool.
