Regards, Jason The Tampa Bay Lightning have announced their 2015 Winter Classic roster, including the inclusion of both 2018 NHL All-Stars Alex Ovechkin and Steven Stamkos. Joining the Lightning in the game are the Washington Capitals and Toronto Maple Leafs, who will square off in the second of back-to-back annual outdoor games played in the state of Florida. All three clubs will wear alternate jerseys that have been inspired by the work of Robert Rauschenberg, best known for his pop art paintings. They're not sure what that means, but all the same they'll be available at authorized NHL retailers. You can view more photos of the jerseys, as well as the men who will wear them, over on the team's website. We're expecting the Lightning to get a little overzealous with the usage of the third jerseys in this game, but we don't really 2edc1e01e8

Webroot Internet Security, anti-spyware and antispyware is the first and only software that can detect, remove and protect against an extensive list of Internet threats. Its award-winning technology quickly and easily detects spyware, a type of malware that you may download from the Internet without knowing it can compromise your system. Once Webroot Internet Security has identified a spyware infection, our software automatically removes it from your PC and prevents it from being downloaded again. Webroot Internet Security also includes a full complement of antispyware and antimalware features that detect, remove and prevent the spread of viruses. Webroot Internet Security has been awarded the PC Magazine Seal of Approval for five years in a row. Since 1998, PC Magazine has been the only nationally recognized authority on software quality and value. Webroot Internet Security is a free download from Download at March 29 (UPI) -- With thousands of Americans facing foreclosure and some having their homes repossessed, a few are exploring less invasive options. In January, 40-year-old Amie Helm of San Diego, Calif., became one of the rare individuals willing to put their house up for rent on Internet real estate site Padmapper.com. "My husband, who is dying of cancer, is unemployed, and at this point, I really have to do something to help myself," said Helm, who rents her five-bedroom home for $800 a month. Padmapper allows users to post pictures and descriptions of a home for rent and then let others browse the listings. Helm said her home, which has 2,600 square feet, five bathrooms, a den and a two-car garage, is currently rented by a doctor and his wife for $2,200 a month. "I also have another listing on Padmapper where I'm renting to an older couple for $1,400 a month. I've had so many nice, older people who have come by and had good things to say about my home," she said. Another renter, Kourtney Busso of Seattle, Wash., and her boyfriend have been renting her place on Craigslist for $1,300 a month, plus utilities. "It was a complete win for us. [We] were able to get an enormous amount of money in rent with two kids and a dog, and it has made me feel so much better about myself and my life," said Busso, 28, who has been renting the three-bedroom, one-bathroom house since October. Busso said her place was priced at $1,700 a month because it's in a bad neighborhood and she didn
